

You Can't Rely on Anyone - Can You Rely On Yourself?

By Logan Christopher

I congratulate you on coming this far. Most people wouldn't do even this much. They wouldn't look to find what more is out there. What is possible to accomplish in this life beyond the sad illusions, held by most people, of the way things are.

Even if someone downloads these reports I'm willing to bet 50% wouldn't read them but instead allow them to collect digital dust on their hard drive. There is a reason I'm making these reports short. There is few things I hate worse than the prospect of having to read a 200 page ebook and burn my eyeballs on the screen. Get to the point already!

It's up to you.

You and you alone. It always has been and it always will be.

If you don't do it, it won't be done. No one will do it for you. What is it? Your LIFE.

Success philosopher Jim Rohn once said, "If you don't design your own life plan, chances are you'll fall into someone else's plan. And guess what they have planned for you? Not much."

That means its up to you, and only you, to achieve your goals, your dreams and your desires. And there is nothing holding you back except your own damn self.

Don't complain to me of your excuses. There are people who have risen above out of circumstances much worse than you or I could even imagine. That have gone up to create and accomplish things the masses of Sheeple can only dream about.

If you can't rely on yourself who can you rely on? No one. What that means is that if you want to get anywhere you'll have to learn how to take care of business yourself. The great thing is that it's easier than ever to do that.

We live in an age where we have everything right at our fingertips. The best quality of life, the best comforts, the best of everything. If you're reading this you likely live in one of the best countries in the world. You at least have internet access, which many people don't!

You're capable of becoming an expert in anything you desire, and you're able to do it fast if you choose and are willing to put in the work for it.

Nope instead you're content to go to work for eight hours a day, making someone else rich, while you get by. Then you go home and need to relax? No. Now's the time to work for yourself. It can be rough, trust me I know. I worked a day job at a grocery store only to go home and work until midnight studying, learning and working on my future online business. It was a slow start. It was a struggle mostly because of all the mistakes I made. But it was worth it.

The quality of life we have living in this day and age is a double edged sword because it breeds comfort. And if you're comfortable then you are less likely to do what needs to be done in order to succeed.

You need the drive and desire. As Napoleon Hill called it in Think and Grow Rich the burning desire. If you are not working towards your goal of having more, stop saying you want it because, you don't. If you really want something you'll put in the effort to get it. If you won't work, shut up and stop complaining about how the way things are.

You will not become a success overnight. No one does. Some people like to play up these stories in their marketing, to give hope to those who want it, but what they don't tell you is about the years of studying and trial and error it took them to get there.

It will take time but guess what? The time is going to pass whether you are moving forward, working on your dreams, or watching five hours of TV each night.

I may be focusing on making money and starting your own online business but this same holds true in every part of your life. If you have problems, or you lack something that you want, do what it takes to fix your issues or acquire your goal. There is no reason not to.

Ignorance or lack of knowledge is no excuse. Do a google search and you'll find solutions to your problem. I'm willing to bet even in many cases you already know what you need to do.

Your laziness is no excuse. Get off your ass and do it. Once you're in action its hard to stop. You need momentum and all it takes to start building that momentum is a little push. One small step leads to the next and is all you need to get the momentum rolling. When you keep it rolling you become unstoppable.

Lack of money is no excuse. You can literally build a business with no money these days. And once it starts making money you can invest that back into the business. Voila! You now have money.

Previous failures is not a valid excuse. These have nothing to do with the task at hand. In fact they're a boon as you have valuable information on what not to do.

Am I being too harsh? Trust me I can be a lot harsher when the time calls for it. What my aim is to get you to act and to get you to do so right now. And if I have to challenge you or piss you off in order to do it so be it!
